> Course Description:

The purpose of this course is to provide knowledge and skills necessary to implement family guided, relationship based intervention for families with young children with disabilities and children at risk for disability. Family guided intervention suggests that families are able to determine child and family strengths, needs, important outcomes, and necessary services. The role of the interventionist or educator is to assist the family to achieve their outcomes by providing information, support and resources so that optimal services and programs can be provided.

Course Objectives:

- 1. Demonstrate knowledge of the importance of family systems theory.
- 2. Identify cultural, socioeconomic, ethical, historical factors and personal values influencing the family and the child.
- 3. Demonstrate best practice in identifying service and educational needs.
- 4. Demonstrate knowledge of school and community based services available, infancy through preschool age.
- 5. Demonstrate ability to develop a program plan to meet the needs of families and children with disabilities.

Course Learning Outcomes:

- 1. Demonstrate knowledge of family systems theory and its application to early intervention within the ecological model.
- 2. Identify and discuss cultural, socioeconomic, ethical, historical factors and personal values that influence family decisions in relation to intervention and programming for a child with disabilities.
- 3. Demonstrates best practice in the selection of family-based assessment instruments to identify the families' resources, priorities, and concerns.
- 4. Identify school and community based services available, infancy through preschool age, matching the needs of the child and family with the appropriate program and services offered.
- 5. Develop a comprehensive service plan to meet the needs of families and children with disabilities.

> Academic Integrity:

The University Code of Conduct aims at providing all students at QU with clear standards of behavior. By registering as a student, all students acknowledge their awareness and knowledge of the University Code of Conduct and its procedures. Moreover, they understand the consequences of the violation of these standards; violations may be of an academic or non-academic nature. Any attempt by students to present the work of others as their own or to pass an examination by improper means is regarded as a most serious offense and renders those students who do so liable to disciplinary action. Assisting another student in any such dishonesty, or knowing of this dishonesty and not reporting it, is also considered a grave breach of honesty. For more information about academic dishonesty and plagiarism, you may refer to: The Qatar University Student Catalog: http://www.qu.edu.qa/static_file/qu/students/documents/students-undergraduate-catalog-2017-2018-en.pdf The Qatar University Code of conduct: http://www.qu.edu.qa/students/code-of-conduct

➤ Intellectual Property (IP) violations / Plagiarism:

Respect for original intellectual creativity is vital to academic discourse. This principle applies to works of all authors and publishers in all forms. This encompasses respect for the right to acknowledgement, the right to privacy and the right to determine the form, manner and terms of publication and distribution. As a general rule, copying, distributing, making derivative work, displaying, or performing copyright-protected work requires the permission of the copyright owner. Plagiarism applies to all student assignments or submitted work and it includes the use of the work, ideas, images or words of someone else without his/her permission; use of someone else's wording, name, phrase, sentence, paragraph or essay without referring to the source, and misrepresentation of the sources that were used. For more information, you may refer to the Qatar University Student Catalog, ps. 55 - 56.

Dishonesty:

"Cheating is an academic offense in accordance with the laws and regulations of Qatar University. In some cases, this violation may result in student's dismissal from the university. Students must refrain from taking part in or participating in any work that contravenes the University's code of conduct and academic integrity and testing procedures". Cheating may include any attempt of cheating or disruption during testing sessions, submitting any material prepared by or purchased from another person or company including reports and research papers, or work completed for one course and submitted to another. For more information, you may refer to the Qatar University Student Catalog, p. 55.

> Student Learning Support:

The Student Learning Support Center (SLSC) provides comprehensive academic support services to all students at Qatar University. The SLSC has a nurturing environment where students can seek assistance with academic coursework, writing assignments, transitioning to college life, and many other academic aspects. SLSC programs and services include tutoring sessions, supplemental instruction, writing support along with academic coaching and workshops. Information about the Learning Center may be found at: http://www.qu.edu.ga/students/support-and-development/student-learning-support

> Success Oasis at the College of Education:

The Success Oasis at the College of Education aims at strengthening and supporting the students to continue the success and excellence in their courses and overcome the obstacles that face them. In addition, it creates a supportive climate and encourages growth and development. This is achieved in several ways, such as peer tutoring programs which emphasize the key role of the students to support their peers continuously during their undergraduate studies, as well as providing other forms of support which may include basic personal academic skills workshops, and other services. For more information, please contact us by the official e-mail: cedso@qu.edu.qa

> Special Needs Support:

In accordance with Law No 2 of the year 2004, and Article 49 in the Constitution of Qatar: "Education is the right of all.", and "the State shall extend efforts to achieve fair and appropriate access in education for all". Qatar University welcomes students with special needs in all educational programs. We urge students with special needs, including visible and invisible special needs, such as physical disability, temporary injuries, chronic diseases, learning disabilities, brain and nerves injuries, attention deficit / hyperactivity disorder, or psychiatric disorders, to contact the Inclusion and Special Needs Support Center and provide their documented disabilities. Information about the Inclusion and Special Needs Support Center may be found http://www.qu.edu.qa/students/support-and-development/special-needs

> Student Complaints Policy:

Qatar University is committed to a policy of fair treatment for its students/faculty/staff in their relationships with student, administration, faculty, staff and other members of the University community. The purpose of this policy is to establish and implement a complaint procedure.

For more information about the policy and processes related to this policy, you may refer to the following link: http://www.qu.edu.qa/students/services/complaints

A student teacher who has difficulty in learning, or needs some assistance, such as clarifying some information, implementing some tasks, or any other assistance, may contact his professor to get the appropriate support.
